

Ch-36 Measuring Health &
Safety Performance
Homework Answers

01

To assess your company's loss control performance, several statistics are captured and analyzed. One of these is "Number of lost time cases experienced during the past year." This statistic is an example of a(n):

- A. Leading indicator
- B. Lagging indicator
- C. Optional indicator
- D. Occupational indicator

02

Of the following, the least likely principal value of accident statistics is:

- A. Measurement of performance
- B. Determining trouble spots
- C. OSHA reporting requirements
- D. Lower worker's compensation costs

03

When establishing performance goals with direct-reporting staff members, which factor is most important?

- A. Creating a mutually agreed upon description of acceptable performance
- B. Creating a mutually agreed upon completion date
- C. Creating a mutually agreed upon budget for use while pursuing the goal
- D. Creating a mutually agreed upon tactical plan to achieve the goal

04

Which one is a leading indicator?

A. Injury frequency and severity.

B. OSHA recordable injuries.

C. Worker's compensation costs.

D. Safety audit's scores.

05

Which person below is most directly responsible for implementing safety procedures at a manufacturing facility?

A. Safety Manager

B. Plant Manager

C. Operations Manager

D. Human Resources Manager

06

When measuring the performance of the safety program, lagging indicators measure historical results and show the effectiveness of loss prevention measures applied in the past. What are leading indicators?

A. Trends that predict future loss performance

B. Measures that lead the performance measure analyst to pursue other lagging indicators

C. Measures that provide the context for the lagging indicators

D. There is no such thing as a leading indicator

07

Which one is a lagging indicator?

A. The scores from audits conducted every month.

B. The cost of injuries last year.

C. The percent of inspections or behavior-based safety observations completed at a location.

D. Training Attendance Rates.

08

What is the most suitable type of performance data to utilize for measuring safety performance and ensuring the effectiveness of the safety management program?

- A. Experience modification rates.
- B. Total case incident rates.
- C. Annual injury trend analyses.
- D. Leading indicators.

09

Which are the key elements of an effective safety and health performance management system?

- A. Policy, organizing, planning and implementation, measuring performance, and discipline.
- B. Measuring performance, reviewing performance, auditing near-misses, training, and enforcement.
- C. Education, planning and organization, policy, reviewing performance, and enforcement.
- D. Policy, organizing, planning and implementation, measuring performance, and reviewing performance.

10

How does a Safety Manager's input in the development of a corporate business plan influence safety management and performance goals?

- A. It ensures the allocation of resources to achieve a zero-injury target.
- B. It integrates safety goals into the overall business strategy and resource allocation.
- C. It identifies areas for improvement and sets specific, measurable safety objectives.
- D. It determines the company's financial projections and resource allocation, with no direct impact on safety goals.