

Ch-37 Safety Program
Auditing Techniques
Homework Answers

01

What is the first step in creating a safety program?

A. Creating a safety policy statement

B. Training employees

C. Weekly audits

D. Employee participation

02

What is the PRIMARY objective of a worksite safety assessment or audit?

- A. Ensure compliance with applicable standards.
- B. Find employees out of compliance with the rules.
- C. Make the site better.
- D. Ensure management is following the safety protocols.

03

Of the following, the least likely reason to perform health and safety audit is:

- A. Determine if codes, laws and regulations are being complied with
- B. Assess the over-all program and its conformance to accepted safety and health practices
- C. Determine if company policies, procedure, and standards are being met
- D. Make sure company is prepared for an OSHA inspection

04

An in-depth method that may be used to evaluate a safety program is a:

A. Safety program audit

B. Safety inspection

C. Job-Task survey

D. Job Safety Analysis

Environmental Health and Safety (EH&S) Audits are NOT designed to:

- A. Ensure legal and corporate program compliance
- B. Identify weak performers in plant manager roles
- C. Advise top management of compliance status
- D. Identify strengths and weaknesses of the facility's EH&S program